Purpose

This document presents the various processes performed as part of the testing of the "RUBEN" website.

These processes of tests were needed to check for any critical bugs, assess the usability and the user experience of the website, its suitability as a prime source of information and ordering meals through delivery.

Application Overview

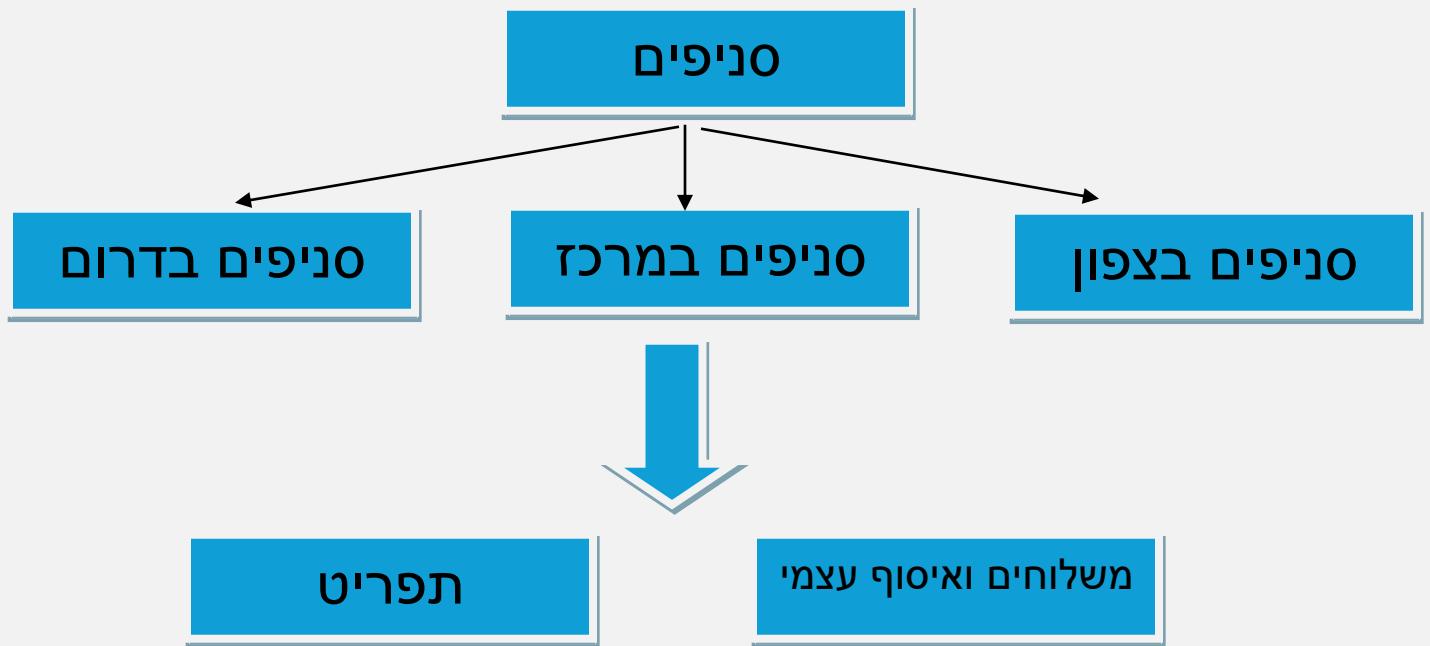

"Ruben" is a chain of branches of hamburgers and hot meats in a unique American ambience.

The "Ruben" website primarily serves as an internet site for displaying the menu for placing orders in the form of delivery or self-pickup.

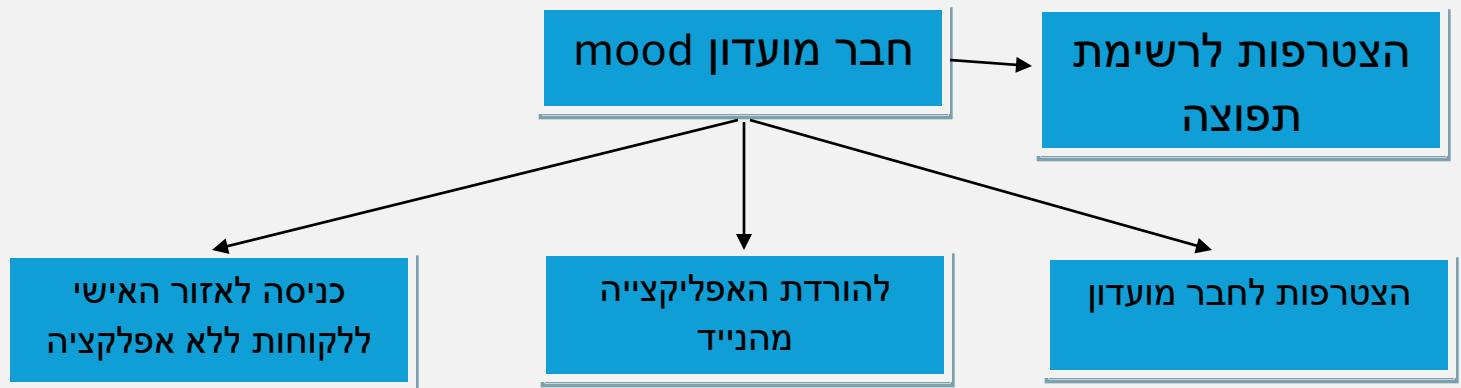

The website also contains information about their history, the method of the preparation process and information about each one of their branches.

TEST TREE

3)

4)

Negative – attempt to type incorrect data to check the site behavior.

UI/UX:

Checking the pictures are displayed correctly.

Checking the text visuality.

Checking for spelling errors.

Compatibility Testing:

Checking that the site works on different kinds of environment.

The site was tested on different browsers (Chorme, Edge, Safari) and on different devices (PC, Android, iPhone)

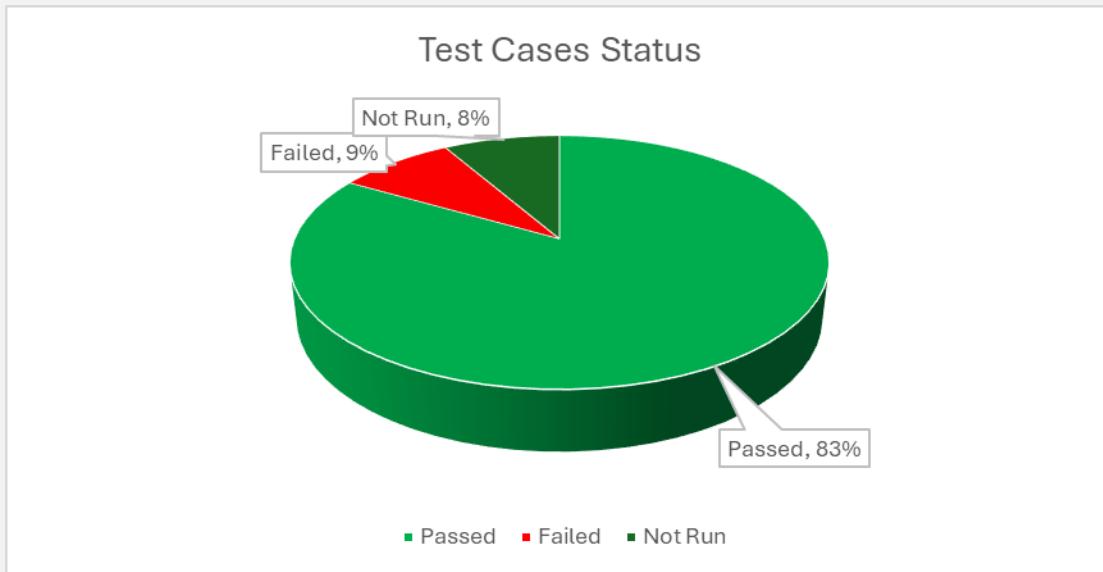

Interfaces Testing:

Metrics

Bugs

s1- Show stopper	S2- high	S3- Medium	S4-low	Total
0	5	5	21	31

Conclusion

Most of the bugs I found were in low severity and the site is working properly.

I would still recommend removing the page for selecting a branch to order from because it is a waste of time if it doesn't really matter what branch you choose, and the only thing that matters is the address you order to.

The image is a promotional graphic for Ruben's restaurant. It features a large, mouth-watering sandwich with various toppings like lettuce, cheese, and onions, with a prominent 'RUBEN' logo on top. To the right of the sandwich is a pile of golden-brown fries. The background is dark, making the food stand out. At the top of the image, there is a navigation bar with links to various websites and social media. Below the navigation bar, there is a large title 'משלוחים ואיסוף עצמי' (Delivery and Self-Pickup) with a star icon. A red callout box on the right says 'It doesn't matter what you choose here'. The main menu section below the title has three items: 'רונן קריין קריית ביאליק' (Ronan Kryen Kryit Biyalik), 'רונן קריית אתה' (Ronan Kryit Atcha), and 'רונן קריית שמונה' (Ronan Kryit Shmona). Each item has a yellow button labeled 'lezmanut maslachot' (Delivery) and a yellow star icon. At the bottom, there are three yellow buttons with icons: a person walking for 'איסוף עצמי' (Self-Pickup), a delivery truck for 'משלוח' (Delivery), and a car for 'צפה בתפריט' (Check the menu). A red callout box at the bottom right says 'This page should open after clicking on "משלוחים"' (After clicking on "Delivery").

The screenshot shows a user interface for placing an order. At the top, there's a banner with a sandwich image and a yellow circle containing the word "RUBEN". Below the banner, the page title is "תשלום וסימנה" (Payment and Confirmation). A red box highlights the "שם פרטי" (First Name) and "שם שושנה" (Last Name) input fields, which both contain the number "4". A red callout bubble to the right of these fields says "Accept a number as a name". Further down, there's a "טלפון" (Phone Number) field with the value "054-883-2500" and a dropdown menu set to "סố 1". At the bottom, there are two checkboxes: "הוסף סכום זה פעמי" (Add this amount every time) and "קראתי ואני מאשר או בקבוק השימוש" (I read and I accept the terms of use), with the second one checked. A large yellow button at the bottom right contains the Hebrew word "הבא" (Next).

Description

1. Open the order menu
2. Choose the option “קלואיק 160 גרם”
3. Click on “הוסף להזמנה”

5. Click on “המשך לתשלום”
6. Input a number on the name and the last name fields
7. Input a valid phone number
8. Click on “הבא”

Actual result:

You can proceed with the order

Expected result:

There should be an error message or blocking the ability to write numbers in these fields
